

MAPPING CURRENT OPERATIONAL COORDINATION MECHANISM

Best practice in conducting joint international operation to combat illicit maritime activities

Presented by

MIHAJARITIANA Nelson Délicieux, ILO Madagascar

INTRODUCTION

To know the best practice in conducting joint international operation to combat illicit maritime activities, there is a need to know first what are the practice currently in use

Practice to combat illicit maritime activities

- diplomatic forum
- Maritime security Operation
- Maritime Security strategy
- Maritime Domain awareness
- Capacity Building

Best Practice

The best practice is RCOC:

- Regional interest :

The best practice is to prioritise the regional interest

- Coordination :

The best practice involve coordination considering the context of all DCOC member state

- Operation:

The best practice is to conduct maritime security operation because it has direct effect on illicite maritime acivities

- Centre:

The best practice is to create a centre to command and control the operation under the DCOC mechanism

CONCLUSION

The DCOC member states face two choices:

- the easy one by using the best practice already working model.
- the difficult one by experimenting new model adapted to the DCOC member state.

REGIONAL COORDINATION OPERATIONS CENTRE